DOOMED TO BE SHOT. BATHED WITH BLOOD.

Three Americans at Chihuahua Are Sanginary Encounter Occurs In a Thus to Die. New York Dance Hall.

DUE TO DUAL MURDER FIFTY SHOTS FIRED

It Is Charged They Decoyed From Man Who Was Killed Treated the El Paso Two Men Named Dev- Crowd, Said Best Friend Lost His
ers and Mitchell to Get Life There, Issued Challenge Insurance Money. and Same Accepted.

El Paso, Nov. 23.—In Chihuahua, Judge Rice sentenced C. T. Richardson, C. S. Harle and William Mason, Americans, to be shot. The men were accused of murdering two men in Chihuahua for life insurance money. Richardson was an insurance agent; Mason, his brother-in-law, the assistant agent and Harle was the examining physician. It was charged that they murdered a man named Devers, who they decoyed, it is alleged, from El Paso, and another man named Mitchell, who is said to be a half brother of Mason. Richardson is from Rochester, N. Y., where he married Mason's sister. The case has been in the Mexican courts three years. Harle was formerly an El Paso physician.

At Rochester, Mason was known as William Mitchell and Richardson went by the name of Leslie E. Hulbert. They left there suddenly because of alleged crookedness in divorce cases which they handled. Mrs. Richardson (Miss Mitchell) was a stenographer in Richardson's office before she married him. The case is one of the most noted in the history of American manipulation in Mexico, and is declared the boldest life insurance swindle on record.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE.

It Has Been Definitely Decided to Inaugurate Same.

Laredo, Nov. 23.—A party of prominent railroad men, at a meeting here, definitely decided upon the establishment of a fast train service between St. Louis and the City of Mexico. The meeting resulted in the establishment of a schedule for the new international train De Luxe, and fixing the date for the institution of the service from St. Louis as Jan. 16, and from City of Mexico, Jan. 20.

The trains are to be of six cars, consisting of a composite car, half baggage, and the rest barbershop, bath room and smoking room; three sleeping cars, all drawingroom construction; a standard dining car; an observation and parlor car with library and writing rooms. The idea of the train originated with H. C. Townsend and was then taken up and endorsed by the other officials.

The service will be the most complete and comfortable that ever entered Mexico, and the various railroad officials are very enthusiastic over the result of the meeting.

According to the schedule adopted the south bound train will leave St. Louis at 9 a. m., arrive at Laredo 6 p. m. the following day, will leave Laredo after half an hour stop and will arrive in City of Mexico at 7:15 a. m. and will arrive at Laredo at 10 a. m. the following day; will depart at 11 a. m., arriving at St. Louis at 8 p. m. the following night.

HEARST WRITES TEXAN.

Says He Will Contest Election Frauds
In Every Way.

Beeville, Tex., Nov. 23.—Hon. William R. Hearst, the contesting candidate for the office of Mayor of New York, has written the following letter to Editor McCurdy of the Beeville Bee in acknowledgment of his editorial commendation of Mr. Hearst's course in the election aftermath:

"I thank you deeply for maintaining your interest in the cause of good government in the face of the tactics of our opponents.

"We intend to contest this fraud in every way, not because I sought or because I want the office of mayor, but because I will not see the people of New York tricked by political bosses. Sincerely yours, W. R. HEARST."

DEBRIS AND BLOOD.

Many Corpses Were Still Lying Upon Streets at Vladivostok.

Tokio, Nov. 23.—Eye witnesses of the rioting at Vladivostok who have reached Moji and Nagasaki report that when they left Vladivostok, one of them as late as Nov. 20, the rioting had ceased, but that the streets were a mass of debris with bloodstains everywhere and that many corpses were still exposed, presenting a gruesome sight.

The supply of food at Vladivostok was scanty when the travelers left that port, owing to destruction of the store houses, and there was barely enough to support the population twenty days.

FRIGHTFUL DEED.

Negro Murders His Wife and Her Parents In Mississippi.

Meridian, Nov. 23.—John Brown, a negro formerly of Birmingham, shot and killed his wife and her father and mother at their residence Wednesday night and then made his escape.

A battalion of regular infantry at Fort Sam Houston will attend the Austin encampment.

New York, Nov. 23.—Election frauds are believed by the police to have caused the murder of W. F. Harrington in "Little Naples," a dance hall, and also probably fatal injuries to Abraham Juckerman, who was found with a fractured skull some distance away from the place. The dance hall is at 57 Great Jones street and conducted by Paul Kelly, leader of an East Side gang.

From papers found on the dead man and from information obtained from nine prisoners, two of them women, who were arrested after the murder, the police learned that the quarrel started over election matters. One of the prisoners had a marked ballot of the last election in his pocket.

Harrington was killed in the bar-room of "Little Naples" during a revolver battle which left the floor spotted with blood and riddled the pictures on the walls. The bartender, Bernard Esotte, one of those under arrest, said the fight started when four members of the Liberty association which were hostile to Kelly entered the room. One of these men, Esotte says, immediately ordered drinks for the whole crowd. When every one was drinking he insolently pounded with his fist upon the bar and exclaimed: "My best friend was shot here Tuesday morning. As there any of you here who know how to shoot? If you do, I'd like to see you beginning." The challenge was accepted and in the battle which followed the police say that fifty shots were fired. The police believe a quarrel over the division of election money was the cause of the fight.

CRITICISM OF BRYAN.

Attempt to Purchase War Stool Displeases Japanese People.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 23.—The Japanese newspapers received by the steamer Shawmut criticize W. J. Bryan, now visiting Japan, because of his attempt to purchase the war stool upon which Admiral Togo sat at the Shinto ceremonial in Ueno park at Tokio in the celebration of naval triumphs. The stool, which has been used for similar purposes since 1607, has been handed down in the Ogasawara family of Shinto priests — alone have authority to conduct such ceremonials. As told by the vernacular of the Japanese newspapers Mr. Bryan went to Yokohama to attend the ceremony and asked to be permitted to sit upon the seat of such a good omen. No objection was made but, so the story runs, he then tried to purchase the heirloom. As it is sacred in Japanese eyes there was only indignation. The owners replied indignantly that the war stool was not for sale.

The Jiji Shimpo says the stool was finally handed over to Mr. Bryan, at his earnest request, after a family consultation of the Ogasawaras. Learning after leaving Tokio of the special character of the stool, Mr. Bryan returned it to the mayor of Tokio, with a letter, explaining that he had no idea of the stool's exceptional value to the Ogasawara family, and under the circumstances should not think of retaining it.

One of the Tokio papers, says Mr. Bryan, secured a common stool upon which Admiral Togo sat from a restaurateur of Ueno park.

Salvage operations were progressing vigorously on Togo's sunken flagship Mikasa when the Shawmut left Japan, the authorities being determined to raise her with the least possible delay. The theory now entertained in Japan naval circles for her loss is that decomposition set in among the explosives in the magazines and spontaneous combustion resulted.

One Similar to Vanderbilt Is What Is

Newnan, Ga., Nov. 23.—At the opening session of the North Georgia Methodist conference here a movement was started looking to the establishment within the bounds of the Southern Methodist church of a great female educational institution similar to Vanderbilt university, the Methodist school for boys at Nashville. The present plans are for the general conference which meets next May in Birmingham, Ala., to be asked to endorse the project and later take it under its care.

NAVAL NEEDS.

What Will Probably Be Recommended to National Legislature.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Three first class battleships of at least 18,000 tons displacement and eighteen knots speed, three scout cruisers of 5,000 tons displacement, one gunboat of the Helena class and four other gunboats of light draught, two for use in the Philippines and two for service on rivers of China, with additional torpedoboats and torpedo boat destroyers, are the principal recommendations of the board of the navy in the programme of new construction to be authorized by the next congress, now under consideration by the board of construction. The latter board will make a complete report upon the practicability of the proposed types of ships contained in the general board's programme and two reports will be forwarded to the secretary of the navy.

Although appreciating fully the necessity of scout cruisers in time of war, the need of an adequate force of destroyers and torpedoboats and immediate desirability of small gunboats for service on Asiatic station, several members of the board of construction are in favor of concentrating the fight for additional ships upon the first recommendation of the general board—that for three new battleships. The board is now figuring upon the possibility of adding to ships of 18,000 tons trial displacement, two twelve inch guns in excess of the number carried by ships of 16,000 tons trial displacement.

The opinion of the board as to the speed of battleships is also awaited with interest, many officers being favorable to a ship capable of making nineteen knots speed of lighter weight, recommended by the general board.

ON GRAND SCALE.

Return of Japanese Soldiers From Manchuria Will Be a Gala Event.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 23.—Great preparations are being made for celebrating the return of Japanese armies from Manchuria, according to advices of the steamship Shawmut. Major General Saki and the Tumen army from north Korea landed at Ujima amid great acclamations when the steamer sailed, and thirty-six transports were waiting at Darien (Dalny) for other troops. Traffic on the Japanese railroads have been interrupted and preparations are being made to make a record for celerity. All troops are expected to be at home in six months. Officers of rank of major and upwards will proceed at once to Tokio to have an audience with the emperor. Merchants of Yokohama have erected an arch costing $6,000 at the railroad station in honor of the troops.

TRADE ISSUED.

Sultan of Turkey Approves Decision of Council of Ministers.

Constantinople, Nov. 23.—The sultan has issued an irade approving the decision of the council of ministers to reject the demands of the powers for international control of finances of Macedonia. Whether the rejection is absolute or conditional has not been definitely ascertained. Vice Admiral Husni Pasha started on a special steamer for The Dardanelles, presumably with instructions for the commander of forts regarding the commander's conduct in the event of the appearance of the international fleet. Similar instructions have been sent to the governors of Turkish islands in the archipelago.

BUFORD BACK.

Encountered Heavy Weather and Was Overdue Three Days.

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—The United States army transport Buford has arrived from Manila. She was three days overdue. HANDBOOKS PROHIBITED.

Ricketts Will Not Allow Them In Government Printing Office.

Washington, Nov. 23.—"Handbooks in the government printing office will not be allowed." This is the gist of an order being enforced by Acting Public Printer Ricketts in the government printing office. The subject was revived by an anonymous letter received by Mr. Ricketts this week naming two or three men who were making handbooks secretly on Benning's races. Mr. Ricketts called the men to his office and told them to stop operations or he would discharge them.

The Case of Adam and Eve.

"In a certain church in Colorado Springs," said an Oregon clergyman, "there used to be a queer old, crusty character, a Scot who was noted for his profound knowledge of the Scriptures. I lectured in that church one evening, and after the lecture the Scot and I and some few others fell into conversation.

"I was urged to put the old man's Scriptural knowledge to the test. I was urged to question him and to let him question me. He would get the better of me—that, every one said, was certain—but I had my doubts and, turning to the Scot, said confidently:

"I will try you, my friend, with the grand, leading, insurmountable question, How long did Adam remain in a state of innocence?"

"The Scot answered:

"'Till he got a wife."

"Then, with a grim chuckle, he went on:

"'But can you tell me, sir, how long he remained after?'"

The Mustache.

The home of the mustache is in Spain, and here is the history of its origin: After the Moors first invaded the country the Christian and Moslem population became so mixed that it was difficult to say which were Moors and which Spaniards. The Spaniards then hit upon a means by which they could at once distinguish their brethren. They did not shave their lips any longer and they allowed a tuft of hair to grow below their under lips, so that their beards formed the rude outline of a cross. Thus the mustache became a symbol of liberty and fraternity.

Branches of the Southern Cotton association have been organized in Bastrop and Williamson counties.

Taylor business men have organized to secure a trolley or motor car belt line connecting with smaller surrounding towns.

Press despatches state that Galveston negroes will bring suit for being refused permission to ride on the new motor car upon tender of the fare.

The third court of appeals holds, in effect, that the plaintiff in a damage suit may at any time be called upon to undergo an examination.

President Rouse of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway is quoted as saying that he will buy the Texas Southern in January, and that within the next twelve months it is desired to connect with the Trinity division of the Katy, but plans for this purpose have not been completed.

It stands to reason that the introduction of agricultural training in the public schools will have a tendency to check the rush of country boys to the towns by giving them a higher appreciation of agricultural pursuits, and will also cause town raised boys with a liking and aptitude for the work, to seek the country and aid in its development. Add to this manual training and the public schools will increase their efficiency two fold.

DIMMITT

Dimmitt, Texas, Nov. 18, 1905.—Since my last letter we have had two weeks of wet weather, which was very acceptable, yet very disagreeable as the ground was wet and cold and roads almost impassable. The mail hack from Hereford to Dimmitt wouldn't get in until after dark sometimes, and it is due at Dimmitt about 5:30 o'clock.

I had a bale of cotton on my wagon which had to stay there about 10 days on account of rain. The Hereford gin has turned out 14 bales this fall. They are counting on 50 in all. Messrs. Tucker & Jacobson the Hereford gin men have two 60 saw Murray gins, double press suction pipe, fine steam engine and boiler, in fact an up to date outfit, which would do credit to anything of the kind I ever saw in Brazos outside of Bryan. They were just 25 minutes ginning my bale of cotton. There was only a little cotton planted this year, people are going wild over wheat here. The wheat crop was fairly good here this year and if it makes as good crop as the present prospects indicate our land will sell at $10.00 per acre next year.

Three sections of land two miles northwest of Dimmitt with one mile of fence to the section, all patent land sold last week for $6.00 per acre. One school section tolerably well improved with forty head of cattle five miles northeast of Dimmitt sold for $6,000. Yet I can find land that is desirably located that can be bought for less money. This land that I speak of is sold to northern people that are used to high priced land that is not as good as this, and they buy through those land agents who has to get a living out of it. I am glad to state that Texas people use better judgment when they come. It may be because they have smaller means than their northern brethren. Well I will tell the readers of the Eagle something of our Brazos county colony in Castro. In addition to those that were already here Bryan sent us another good family in the persons of A. P. Todd and family, Jolly and Enoch Holland, who are all well pleased with the country. The boys got a job the day they landed in Hereford. W. S. D.

THE MARKETS.

Kansas City Cattle and Hogs.

Special to the Bryan Eagle.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 20, 1905.—The open Quarantine season is now in effect, and cattle from below the quarantine line may come to the Native division, after having been inspected and found free of ticks, until the first of February. The market in the Quarantine division closed 5 to 10 lower on steers last week, cows about steady. Some fed steers sold at $3.65 today, and cows late last week at $2.75, other fed steers last week at $3.35 to $3.60. The grass stuff is common quality for the most part, steers from $2.40 to $3.15, cows $2.00 to $2.40, top grass cows last week $2.50 and $2.55. A few veals have sold lately at $5.00, most of the calves $2.35 to $3.25. Buyers have taken hold of the fed steers in the native division a good deal better since Tuesday of last week. The market kept going down till then, but when the supply of this class was nearly cut off, buyers hurried into the saddle, and the price jumped up 20 to 30 cents by the end of the week.

The hog market received a severe setback the middle of the week, but made some recovery before the close, ending the week with a net loss of 12 cents. The break shut off the run after Wednesday, only 63,000 for the week, a decrease of 6,000. Supply today is 7,000 head, market steady, top $1.85, bulk of sales $1.75 to $1.80, light weights and pigs $1.50 to $1.75. J. A. RICKART, Live Stock Correspondent.

A Judge and a Pistol.

A correspondent of Law Notes writes of the administration of justice in a certain insular possession of the United States when the island was under Spanish rule. Judge Z. had had a quarrel with an editor. The judge arranged with a hoodlum to insult the editor in order to provoke him to a breach of peace. A policeman to arrest the editor was a part of the "plant." The plot was carried out, but the editor kept his temper. The officer arrested him, none the less. He was haled before Judge Z., who found there was no case. The judge took from a drawer of his desk a revolver, silver plated and beautifully inlaid with gold and mother of pearl, showed it to the prisoner and informed him that the policeman had delivered the weapon to him as one taken from the person of the defendant and asked him what he had to say to the charge of carrying arms. The editor examined the weapon, put it in his pocket, admitted that he had had it in his possession, produced a permit from the Spanish authorities to carry arms and, with true Castilian politeness, bowed himself out and off with the judge's beautiful pistol.

Gifts at Baptisms.
Gifts to infants at their baptism are of ancient origin. Formerly the sponsors generally offered gilt spoons to the child. These spoons were called apostle spoons because the figures of the twelve apostles were carved at the top of the handles. Rich sponsors gave the complete set of twelve, while for those who were not so opulent four was considered the proper number, and poor sponsors would content themselves with offering one. In the latter case the handle of the spoon generally exhibited the figure of any saint in honor of whom the child received its name. It is in allusion to this custom that when Cranmer professed to be unworthy of being sponsor to the young princess Shakespeare makes the king reply:

Come, come, my lord;
You'd spare your spoons.

The mug or spoon and fork offering of the present day appears as a very debased survival of a really beautiful christening offering.

Origin of Dog Days.

According to the generally accepted doctrine the dog days begin on July 3 and end on Aug. 11, but there have been disputes as to every possible point about them. It was universally agreed that they were connected with the dog star, but which one? The real dog star, Sirius, or Procyon, the Little Dog? Then there were disagreements as to the particular astronomical performance of the star that fixed the dog days; as to their number, which varied in different estimates between thirty and fifty-four, and whether they were to be reckoned before, after or around the star's performances. The forty settled on precede the rising of Sirius with the sun. A belief grew up that in these days dogs went mad, but terrestrial dogs have really nothing to do with it. The original belief was that the star and sun together brought intense heat and all sorts of plagues.—London Chronicle.

The soul asks honor, not fame; to be upright, not successful; to be good, not prosperous; to be essentially, not outwardly, respectable.—Woman's Life.

THE "DODGING PERIOD"

of a woman's life, is the name often given to the "change of life." Your menses come at long intervals, and grow scantier until they stop. Some women stop suddenly. The entire change lasts three or four years, and it is the cause of much pain and discomfort, which can, however, be cured, by taking

WINE OF CARDUI Woman's Relief

President Loggins Thinks Such a Course Is Proper.

Dallas, Nov. 23.—President Loggins of the Baptist Missionary union stated that both Baptist bodies had met under the same roof within a week of each other and that an effort would be made to unite them. He stated that he favored such a move; that he believed conditions in Texas have greatly improved and that the present denominational outlook is brighter than for many years past. It was further said that a resolution looking to unification would probably be proposed later. A discussion of great length in which all participated then began over the proposed constitutional amendment based on the appointment of an assistant secretary. After a very lively debate the proposed constitutional change was lost.

The debt of the association was reduced to $1,000 and it was decided to make a loan at 8 per cent interest and pay this off.

Jacksonville college was accepted by the association and the debt on it of $2600 cleared.

Tax Collector Walter Wiprecht stated to the Eagle reporter, upon his return from the San Antonio fair, that the Brazos county agricultural exhibit shows up splendidly and if it does not capture the first prize it will give the winner a close rub.

The capital stock of the Bryan Water, Light and Power Co. has been increased from $20,000 to $40,000 to cover the increase in value of the property. Some improvements in the plant are under consideration.

FRIENDLY WARNING.

No Need to Be Alarmed About Stomach Troubles if You Use Mi-o-na—Cure Guaranteed by E. J. Jenkins.

The most frequent affection of the stomach is catarrh, as the delicate membrane which lines the stomach is easily irritated by harmful food or overeating. Keep a strict watch for the first symptoms of stomach trouble. Take this friendly warning in the spirit in which it is given and profit by it.

Shortness of breath, black specks before the eyes, furred tongue, dizziness, belching of gases or sour food, weakness and debility are all signs of catarrh of the stomach. There is no need to be unduly alarmed, for this disease can be cured by Mi-o-na. It is the only remedy that strikes at the root of the evil and actually cures the disease.

It does not contain opium in any form, acids, alcohol, or any other harmful drug or chemical. It is a pure remedy that heals the irritated mucous membrane, stimulates the solar plexus and aids digestion.

Ask E. J. Jenkins to show you the guarantee under which he sells Mi-o-na. It costs but 50 cents a box, and your money is returned if it does not help you.

The report of vital statistics of Brazos county for the month of October, according to the records in the county clerk's office, shows a total of six births and three deaths.

SIGNS OF MODIFICATION.

Presence of French Warships Is No Doubt the Cause.

Washington, Nov. 23.—With the French warships at Martinique, a day's cruise from Venezuelan waters, President Castro has begun to show signs of his intention to modify his attitude toward the French government so far as diplomatic relations between the two countries is concerned. Secretary Root is not yet in a position to make a formal announcement on the subject, but the tenor of dispatches received so far from Mr. Russell, the American minister at Caracas, is that Castro seems now inclined to be responsive. This government has not approved the language used by President Castro in his note to M. Taigny, the French charge, and its withdrawal will be a matter of satisfaction, not alone at Paris but at Washington also.

FRANCE REFUSES.

Request of President of Venezuela Has Not Been Agreed To.

Paris, Nov. 23.—The inquiry at the foreign office brought out the statement report that France accedes to President Castro's request to indicate that portions of the Venezuelan note to M.
Taigny, French charge d'affaires, which is offensive is incorrect. Officials say the president heretofore has been completely informed regarding the offensive features of the note and, therefore, the report that France has given further explanations is characterized as a "bluff intended to delay and confuse the situation."

PROTEST MADE.

Delegation Requests That Judge Raymond Be Not Reappointed.

Washington, Nov. 23.—A protest was made to President Roosevelt Wednesday against the reappointment of Judge Charles W. Raymond as United States district judge for the western district of Indian Territory. The protest was made personally to the president by a delegation of citizens from Indian Territory, who were introduced by Senator Clark of Wyoming. The delegation made a like protest to Attorney General Moody. It was alleged that Judge Raymond is not fitted for the performance of judicial duties and that some of his rulings have worked serious injuries to litigants. Judge Raymond is an Illinois man, and has been a supporter of Speaker Cannon. Charges were filed against him last winter, but Attorney General Moody, after an inquiry into the matter, did not sustain them.
Neither the president nor the attorney general indicated what they might do regarding the appointment.

BITTER CONTEST.

It Is For Possession of an Estate In Oklahoma City.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—A bitter contest for the estate of D. J. Spencer of Oklahoma City was brought to Chicago.
Relatives of the man are fighting a will filed by Mary Cartwright also of Oklahoma. They charge that the document is a forgery. To determine the truth of this charge, the will and copies of the testimony in the case taken in the west have been sent to the United States district court here and experts on handwriting will examine the documents, when they will be returned to Oklahoma City.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

Does Extensive Damage to Ungathered

Guthrie, Nov. 23.—A disastrous prairie fire Wednesday in the vicinity of Meridian, this county, did extensive damage to ungathered corn and cotton crops, orchards and farm buildings. The farms of C. P. Summer, John Stovall, Frederick Rider and James Fletcher were swept clean by the fire. The only things saved in the path were two schoolhouses.

of an explosion in the Balton Lumber caught fire from the scattered coals of the furnace and destroyed the planing

YELLOW FEVER REPORT.

Louisiana Board of Health Will Tell
How It Got Foothold.

New Orleans, Nov. 23.—The Louisiana state board of health met for the first time since the fever, and after other business, held a three-hours' executive session, at which data was formulated and blocked out for a report to be submitted to Governor Blanchard, at his request, as to how yellow fever secured a foothold in Louisiana, when discovered and when reported.
It is rumored that Dr. Souchon, the president, will resign.

LARGE COTTON FIRE.

One Thousand Bales Are Either Destroyed or Damaged.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 23.—Augusta was visited Wednesday night by a fire which destroyed or damaged 1,000 bales of cotton and also damaged the warehouse in which the staple was stored.
There is no possible explanation of the cause of the fire so the compartment in which it originated had not been opened for two days, and there were no signs or smell of fire before the blaze burst forth. The warehouse is owned by Nixon and Danforth and the building and contents were fully insured.
The loss is estimated at $40,000.

At the Ambassador's Reception

By A. M. DAVIES OGDE

Copyright, 1905, by Eugene P.

Young Leighton went listlessly up the steps of the embassy. It had been an extremely hot July day even for Paris, and Leighton felt tired and dispirited. But all good Americans must go to their ambassador's reception. Besides, there was a girl. Yet Leighton's step did not quicken at the thought.
His pace, if anything, slackened. She was a nice girl—oh, yes—and pretty and rich. Nevertheless—

The rooms were crowded with the usual mob of Americans, traveling and resident, mingled among a few French people. Leighton, watching idly for a moment, caught sight of Miss Harris wedged across the drawing room and worked his way to her. At his suggestion of the conservatory she looked keenly at him and seemed to hesitate.
Then she smiled.

"Why, it might be cooler," she assented. "You know the way?"

But once away from the crowd, amid the luxuriant green of the palms where a little rippling fountain lent a note of freshness to the heated atmosphere, young Leighton fell silent. As the girl chatted gayly on, apparently unheeded of his quietude, Leighton studied her carefully. She was slight and trim, perfect in detail from the tiny patent leather ties to the huge, rose crowned hat tilted so becomingly on the wavy hair. Yes, she was undeniably attractive. Yet once more Leighton sighed.
Perhaps it was the sight of so many of his country people together, but undoubtedly Leighton was conscious of a vague nostalgia. Would he ever see America again?

He was a tall, clean cut young fellow, with pleasant hazel eyes, but round his mouth had deepened lines which betrayed that existence was proving none too kind. Five years ago he had arrived at the Beaux Arts eager, hopeful, ambitious. He had worked hard, he had struggled patiently, yet somehow success did not seem to come, and now a terrible doubt was beginning to torment the young fellow. Had he mistaken his vocation?

From the beginning his father had been averse to these artistic projects.
"There is a place for you in the bank whenever you choose to come home and take it," he had said, "but no money of mine shall go for foolishness and Frenchmen." Young Leighton, at first too confident to dream of failure and later too proud to admit the fact, had fought along striving to the best of his ability. How could he give up and go home? And, then, just a month ago he had met Miss Harris.

She was stopping awhile in Paris, living with a rich old aunt and possessed of the reputation of being herself extremely wealthy. Apparently she had at once taken a fancy to Leighton.
She asked him to call. The day after he had left a card at the Ritz came an invitation for dinner, and henceforth nearly every day saw the young people together on some pretext or other.
Leighton let himself drift. He liked her, liked her immensely. To her very finger tips the girl was sensitively alive to the beautiful, her perceptions were delicate and fine, her tastes cultivated.
Leighton realized fully her charm, and yet he still hesitated to put the decisive question. Her voice broke suddenly across his reverie.

"You are not listening at all," she remonstrated gayly, yet with a certain strained note below her mirth, which Leighton in his abstraction missed.
"Why this wool gathering tendency today?" Leighton laughed.

"I was thinking how like a rose you looked against all this green in that pretty pink frock," he answered. Miss Harris frowned a little.

"I do not care for compliments," she uttered dryly. "Pray let me tell you again that I am leaving Paris tomorrow."

"Leaving Paris?" echoed Leighton.

"Why?"

"We go to Lucerne for awhile," stated Miss Harris. "It is far too warm in Paris now."

"Lucerne!" repeated Leighton again rather blankly. He could never afford to follow her there. If he were going to ask her it must be done now. His mouth tightened. The girl, whose eyes had scrutinized his face with a certain eager intensity, interposed before he could speak.

"I am going to Lucerne to join a friend," she began rapidly, as though there were something which must be met and faced now. "I want to get there before she leaves, as I have just heard that she is sailing next week.
We have always been great chums, this girl and I; had no secrets from each other and that sort of thing."

"Yes," said Leighton absently. He was wondering how it would seem to work in the bank. Was it fair to a girl to marry her for her money? After all, dad was a good sort. If he could only make up his mind to renounce art, to confess his failure to dad! But at the thought his throat contracted. Give in; admit that he was no good! He bent forward.

"Listen," he began unsteadily. "I—But the girl was still chattering on.

"You see, she cannot come to Paris," she pursued. "Her mother has an idea that Ruth is interested in some young man here, and she would not hear of it when I suggested their coming to me; consequently I must go to them. And that is why I am departing so unexpectedly."

Leighton clinched his hand nervously.
"Ruth," he hesitated, coloring faintly,
"I used to know a Ruth. It is a pretty name. And—and you say that she is interested in some one here," trying desperately to speak with impersonal calmness. Miss Harris nodded.

"Yes," she responded quietly. "I believe he—she asked her to marry him once. But she refused him, not knowing how much she cared. And—and then he went away. She did not know where to write, you see. He had quarreled with his father, and so"—

She stopped, for Leighton, uttering a low cry, had caught her fingers in his.

"You knew," he managed brokenly.

"You knew—all the time?"

For answer Miss Harris thrust a hand into her pocket and produced a letter. This she opened at a certain page and without a word passed it to the young man. Leighton's breath tightened to a gasp.

"Marie, oh, Marie, if you meet him send him back to me!" he read. The words, blurred by the mist that dimmed his gaze, danced wildly before him. Ruth, little Ruth! Outside the window a splendid American flag trailed lazily in the faint breeze, and with a sudden great heart throb Leighton's spirit leaped to answer the call of home. Yes, he would go home, he would take the place in the bank. He would work, slave, force success. And he would tell dad—dear old dad—that to be a plain, everyday American citizen was good enough for him. And then perhaps some day—his face fairly glorified by its new radiance; he turned to the girl beside him.

"How good you have been!" he exclaimed ardently. "How can I ever thank you? I shall start at once.
There is a steamer leaving Cherbourg tomorrow. And—and if you see Ruth"— faltering.

"I shall tell her that she will see you in New York," promised the girl.
"Goodbye, then," as their hands met in a farewell clasp. "Goodbye. And—I am glad."

But as she watched the tall figure cross the wide room, the bored look now quite gone from face and bearing, the girl's smile faded, a sudden wistfulness shadowed her sweet eyes, while her lips quivered.

"And—and I thought that he really cared—for me," she grieved. "Ah," with a sudden expectancy, "is he going to turn? No? Will he not even wave a goodbye?"

But Leighton was already headed for the steamship office.

MISSIONARY MONEY.

Episcopalians Will Endeavor to Raise a Large Amount.

Dallas, Nov. 23.—How best to encourage interest in missions was discussed by the missionary department conference of the Eighth district of the Episcopal church. The apportionment of funds to be raised by this district for the coming twelve months is $800,000, and it was stated by several speakers be made.

An informal reception was tendered the delegates at St. Mary's college.

WILD GOOSE TAME.

Goes About the Barnyard and Is Great Favorite With Ducks.

Sherman, Nov. 23.—S. W. Porter has a rather strange visitor at his Fairview residence in the shape of a young wild goose, evidently strayed from some migrating flock. The bird runs about in the barnyard with the other fowls, but seems to be regarded with disfavor by the chickens and domesticated geese, which fight it, while the ducks have, to the contrary, taken the stranger into their fold with an apparent welcome.

000 cubic feet per hour. The well is
